

Ludicrously romantic weddings

Hotel Tresanton

Originally created in the 1940's as a yachtsmans club, Tresanton is a cluster of old houses on the waterfront in St Mawes, one of the prettiest villages in Cornwall. Tresanton has a casual yet elegant atmosphere, very much in keeping with the waterside location which makes it a perfect wedding venue.

Weddings at Tresanton are a very special occasion, designed especially for you. Whether a really small wedding for just the two of you, or a larger exclusive use wedding where you take over the whole hotel, we create the perfect bespoke wedding package for you.

Exclusive use weddings for up to 70 guests are available in the quieter months between September and April. Smaller weddings for up to 50 guests are available throughout the year, with the exception of our busier times of year, such as August, Easter, Christmas and New Year.

Tresanton has a Civil Licence, so marriages and civil partnerships can take place at the hotel. Contact the Superintendent registrar in Truro on 0300 1234 181 for more information. If you are planning a church service, we can put you in touch with the priest in charge of St Mawes and St Just in Roseland churches, and St Mawes Catholic church.

Your wedding will not just begin and end with the ceremony and reception when you stay at Tresanton. There are beautiful coastal paths for romantic walks. In the summer months you can enjoy a sail on our yacht, Pinuccia and take a picnic to a secluded beach.

We have a trusted collection of local contacts and suppliers, such as photographers and florists, which we recommend to help take care of all other details for the day.
